Tendering for Contracts Training

Tendering for Contracts Training provides online tendering and procurement training for small to medium enterprises.

Training that enables firms benefit from business opportunities in the public or private sector by preparing them on how to respond to invitation to tender notices and prepare contract documents.

Our training enables firms identify and benefit from new business opportunities in the public or private sector, respond to invitation to tender notices, tender for contracts, respond to request for proposals, prepare and submit tenders documents, implement quality management systems, effectively market products and services to the public sector and efficiently manage public sector contract projects.

Because procurement is not the same assist a successful relationship.

Learners receive an (ITOL), Institute of Training and Occupational Learning externally accredited certificate - they may proceed at their own pace inline with other commitments.

Testimonial

As a procurement specialist for over 20 years, I believe this to be an excellent on-line training programme, suitable for both managers / owners of firms and individuals, it prepares them to tender for contracts with confidence, and develop new business through effective training that enables profitable engagement in the tendering and procurement process.

(Former Chief Procurement Officer, Centrica Plc.)
